Wilfred Pickles at Spastic School

25th Oct. 1955

Under voice

Lincolnshire: Ever ready to devote his time to sick children, Wilfred Pickles, accompanied by his wife, Mabel, arrived at Tixover Grange to open a new school for Spastic Children.

And two of the unfortunate youngsters proudly presented a bouquet to Mabel.

The School (the first of its kind to be opened in the East Midlands) will bear the name of Wilfred Pickles - <sup>who</sup> ~~she~~ left behind some happy memories with children who bear more than their share of suffering.
