

Glasgow-- On arrival at Maryhill Barracks, Princess Margaret was greeted by the Lord Provost, who presented Major-General Urquhart - Colonel of the Highland Light Infantry - (City of Glasgow Regiment).

~~Then~~ The Princess had come to visit the Regiment, and owing to the rain, inspected the Guard of Honour, (composed of recruits in full regimental dress), in the gymnasium. /

Afterwards in the Sergeant's Mess, senior warrant officers and ~~the~~ their wives enjoyed the privilege of meeting Her Royal Highness, who added her name to the distinguished visitors' book. /

And there was a ~~floral~~ ^{bouquet} tribute for the Royal Guest, who was making her first inspection of the depot as Colonel-in-Chief of the H.L.I. /

The Princess ~~showed~~ ^{showed} her deep interest in ~~the problems~~ of another important section of the Regiment, when she ~~was~~ had an informal chat with ~~the~~ corporals and their wives. /

A delightful ending to a memorable Scottish occasion. /
