

At Lansdowne Road, Ireland kicked off against Scottish visitors, who had not won in Dublin for twenty-three years.

And again, the Dublin bogey dogged the Scots. First, they lost Skipper Angus Cameron through injury. And then, Henderson bull-dozed his way over - in the corner..

But worse was to come. Good work by Kyle and Henderson sent O'Reilly careering ~~back~~ round for a second try.

The second half. Ireland leading eleven points to five. Then, a brilliant ~~move~~ move sends depleted Scotland away for another try, in a great-hearted comeback...

But Ireland finally triumphed - by fourteen points to ten.
