Convent Fire

Canada: Stark tragedy struck during the night at a convalescent home of Roman Catholic Nuns at Orleans, near Ottawa, after a Canadian jet fighter had crashed in flames - on the building.

The plane had taken off to investigate an unidentified aircraft - and its death dive took toll of eighteen lives. Fourteen of ^{the dead were} ~~them~~ nuns.

Daybreak revealed to the surviving sisters, (struck with grief at the sudden loss of their companions) the extent of the disaster....one of the worst in Canadian history.
