Japan: Youth gives the world a lead in international fellowship, as thirteen thousand Boy Scouts from nineteen countries pitch camp for one of the greatest jamborees in the history of the movement.

Here are gathered, boys of many races and many creeds, ~~and~~ their aims and ideals ^{forming} ~~are~~ a common bond... While the swapping of souvenirs soon breaks down ~~the~~ ^{any} barriers of national reserve.

The climax to the days of friendship and growing understanding is the Grand Parade. ~~Each~~ ^{PASSES} Each national contingent ~~is~~ in review before Japan's Crown Prince Akihito.

The Old Leader, Lord Baden-Powell, would have been ~~justly~~ proud of these youngsters who had travelled thousands of miles for this "adventure in brotherhood."
