

Troops in Rhineland (Continued)

West Germany: ~~Earlier this year, the new Federal German Army began training.~~ A unit commander receives the key to the barracks, in a Rhineland town - as the new ~~army~~ ^{FEDERAL GERMAN ARMY} takes over garrison-duty. ~~for the first time.~~

➡, After eleven years ~~and to the sound of martial music,~~ German Army marches again in the Rhineland - ready to shoulder ~~a~~ growing responsibility in ~~the~~ ^{the Republic's} defence.

Falls

America: For a hundred years, the Celilo Falls, on the Columbia River, have been the happy hunting-ground of Red Indian tribes - as they netted salmon under treaty-rights. But once again, the march of progress ~~catches up with~~ ^{catches up with} the red man's preserve - for a huge dam has been built downstream. ~~from the falls.~~

➡ Soon, this fishing paradise will be inundated by swirling waters. But, in 1956, the Indians welcomed the white man's invasion ~~as~~ they exchanged their treaty rights for cash payments.

Campbell

Lancashire: Tearing along on skis, ~~water~~ Speed King Donald Campbell gets the feel of Coniston Water. Meanwhile, his turbo-jet boat, "Bluebird" gets the finishing touches ~~for the attempt to~~ ^{FOR THE ATTEMPT TO} ~~increase his own world water speed record~~ ^{increase his own world water speed record} ~~of 116.8 m.p.h.~~ ^{of 116.8 m.p.h.}

And on nearby Lake Windermere, another record achievement for Britain, as Mr Buckley, a Manchester solicitor, ~~sets up a new~~ ^{sets up a new} one-hour (unlimited class) world water-speed-record, with an average speed of 79.66 miles per hour.
