

Queen with C.R.E.

Kent: At Chatham, the Queen, as Colonel-in-Chief, visited her Corps of Royal Engineers, to mark a centenary celebration.

During the afternoon, Her Majesty watched a display <sup>of the</sup> ~~by the Corps~~ ~~of the Corps~~ <sup>OF THE CORPS</sup> ~~of the Corps~~ work and equipment at Gordon Barracks, Gillingham.

Besides mechanical mine-layers and excavators - there were giant tank bridge-layers on show.

~~As~~ This demonstration alone - revealed the progress the Corps has made in facing the challenge of modern war-fare, ~~conditions~~.

In a matter of minutes, a path is made for the heaviest tank.

While in Chatham, the Queen toured the Married Quarters, visiting the home of Warrant Officer Eaton.

Moscow - Agreement signed

Moscow: During recent days - the Kremlin had one peaceful moment, when the Soviet Premier, Mr Bulganin, and Mr Hatoyama for Japan - signed a Joint Declaration.

Mr Malenkov was present at the Treaty Signing - which brings to an end the eleven-year state of war between the countries - with a promise of trade negotiations.

Canada: Soviet visit

Canada: During a coast-to-coast tour, a party of top-ranking Soviet Forestry Officials visited <sup>Timber</sup> Mills and Logging camps in Vancouver. (2)

At one mill, the visitors (headed by Mr Orlov, Soviet Minister of Forest Industries) watched the cutting-up of timber on a conveyor-belt system...

A friendly exchange of ideas - ~~exists~~ that may bring large Soviet orders for Canadian logging and mill equipment.
