

2426

Queen at Repton

Derbyshire: Amid welcoming cheers, all the local inhabitants were determined to share the occasion, when the Queen and Prince Philip toured Duchy of Lancaster farms - on the vast Needwood Estate.

Journeying on to Repton, the welcome of the ^{400 year-old} ~~Public~~ Public School was led by the Archbishop of Canterbury ¹⁸⁶⁹⁻¹⁸⁹⁵ & the Headmaster for eighteen years.

~~This Royal occasion marked the four hundredth anniversary of the school's foundation. During the visit, the Queen cut a ribbon to symbolise the opening of the kindergarten gateway. Some of the...~~

The many ^{keen} ~~enthusiastic~~ photographers secured souvenir pictures. The Queen planting a mulberry tree, and the former headmaster returning her handbag...

Beauty Queen

London: Dancing at the Lyceum, these are the lovelies from whom the judges had to choose the ^{new holder} ~~winner~~ of the ^{title} "National Ballroom Queen". And the winner - (from 24 Grand Finalists who qualified in nationwide contests) was Miss Gwenllian Bowen of Llanelly...

Last year's winner crowned the 1957 "National Ballroom Queen" - who combines both beauty of face and figure, with the grace and charm of an accomplished dancer.

Oxford lose the Boat Race

~~Friday~~ Over to Putney, where a century-old challenge was renewed in the 103rd Battle of the Blues. Oxford (on the ^{FRASIDE} ~~right~~) won the toss and chose the Middlesex station. /s

Following in a launch, our news-camera focusses on the Dark Blues.

Using ^{their new} ~~the~~ semi-American style of rowing) ~~they~~ they were odds-on favourites.

Yet, at Hammersmith Bridge, the Light Blues had not only regained the ~~lead~~ ^{LEAD} they had lost by the Mile Post; but were actually forging ahead.

~~With~~ ~~with~~ ~~Oxford's~~ ~~lead~~ ~~at~~ ~~No.~~ ~~5~~ showed signs of exhaustion during the race ^{OXFORDS} (5 secs.)

SO FOR CAMBRIDGE — A TWO LENGTH VICTORY