

At London Airport, Mrs Morrison, wife of the Speaker of the House of Commons, christens the first of three ^{United States} Super Sabre jets ~~"Susan Constant"~~ ~~Constant"~~

~~The planes were being~~ named after the three tiny ships that carried the first permanent British settlers to America, 350 years ago. And Mrs Whitney (wife of the ^{United States} Ambassador) named the second, ~~"Plymouth"~~

Lady Churchill also shared this anniversary-celebration of that first Anglo-American union - and bestowed the apt title "Discovery"

~~settled on the Eastern seaboard~~
Gifts of British coins and historic documents were ^{handed} presented to the Flight Commander, ~~_____~~

And the journey, ^{TO VIRGINIA} that took those settlers five months, the planes covered non-stop in eight hours. ^{in the Pacific, recalls}

^{ANOTHER} mission of friendship ^{reminiscent} ~~_____~~ ^{ANOTHER ANNIVERSARY -} as the ^{United States} Carrier "Bennington" sails through the peaceful Coral Sea, ~~for~~ Australia.

On board, were many veterans of the Battle of the Coral Sea - fifteen years ago. ~~_____~~ ^{AND NOW BOUND FOR AUSTRALIA.} (Gow)

Arriving in Sydney Harbour, Admiral Stump, C.-in-C ^{United States} Pacific Fleet, comes ashore - for the ^{Fifteenth} anniversary celebrations of the battle ~~and~~ ~~_____~~ ^{his} last visit, ^{WAS} in 1942. ~~_____~~ SOUND.

These graphic war-time pictures recapture the grim uncertainty of ~~_____~~ ^{these} days, ~~_____~~ - when the Japanese Invasion Fleet menaced Northern Australia.

American carrier-based planes ^{scored} ~~_____~~ great successes, ^{BUT} ~~_____~~ ^{C PILOTS} ~~_____~~ ^{OF DAMAGED PLANES HAD} narrow escape on returning to "base".

The Battle (described as the greatest Naval operation since Jutland) ~~_____~~ found the combined Allied ^{battling,} forces ~~_____~~ desperately, against Japanese suicide-pilots - who aimed their damaged planes at their ships. ~~_____~~ SOUND.

Finally, the ^{Japanese} fleet was shattered and Australia spared the horrors of invasion. Now, fifteen years later, ^{THE VISITING} American sailors strike up new friendships at Taronga Park Zoo - as Australia ~~_____~~