H.M.S. Protector

Portsmouth: Following a six-months spell of duty, (protecting British interests in the Antarctic) the armed netlayer, H.M.S. Protector - ~~arrived~~ arrives home from the Falkland Islands Dependencies.

Besides carrying out valuable surveys, the "Protector" brought home six V.I.Ps. ~~(V.I.P.s. King Penguins)~~

They're King Penguins - and after suffering the indignity of the "customs" they were safely installed at the London Zoo.

Mrs America

Florida: Though "A woman's place is in the home" now sounds a trifle old-fashioned - the "Mrs America" contest salutes the woman who makes the home her whole life..

So glamour surrendered to successful home-making. But the winner, Mrs Inwood Findley, a mother of four, obviously has a recipe for beauty, too...

Ladies Night

London: ~~A show with a punch at the Cafe Royal, as writer-nights~~
~~and Ben Richardson of Gainsborough~~
~~of Gainsborough~~
"Ladies Night" Tournament - organised by the National Sporting Club, AT THE CAFE ROYAL.

Sixty years ago, the famous Club put ^{James} the noble art into boxing, and many a championship battle provided the sparkling aperitif to a member's dinner. In this bout, Paul King ^{OF TORQUAY} won on points.

Duke at Corsham.

Wiltshire Arriving by helicopter at the Petty Officers Training School at Corsham, the Duke of Edinburgh was warmly greeted by the Captain - Commander P.D. Hoare.

And the March-past of the pupils of H.M.S. Royal Arthur (as the school is called) took place in anything but Royal weather. The distinguished guest saw a tough demonstration of the latest methods in Commando-style, training. (BRING UP) And before leaving, he received an "Old Boy's" tie. For the Duke was a Lieutenant at the school eleven years ago (BRING UP).

Viet-Nam- President.

The U.S.A. A "Welcome to New York Parade" honours President Ngo Dinh Diem of Viet-Nam, who has preserved his country from the menace of Communism. The President is no stranger, for he spent three years in America in exile. To-day, he returns to a hero's welcome - hailed by the Mayor as one of the greatest figures in 20th century Asia.
