

Viet-Nam President-

re

U.S.A.

America-- A "Welcome to New York Parade", ~~honours~~ ^{honours} President Ngo Dinh Diem of Viet-Nam, who has preserved his country from the menace of ~~Communism~~ Communism.

The President is no stranger, for he spent three years ^{in America} here in exile. To-day, he returns to a hero's welcome- hailed by the Mayor as one of the greatest figures in 20th century Asia.

Supreme Soviet-

Moscow-- At the Seventh Session of the Supreme Soviet, which opened in the Kremlin, Mr Khrushchev- Communist Party Leader- outlined his plan for the re-organisation of Russia's vast industries.

This will involve more than 40 million men and women in 300,000 State Industries.

The scheme (which was loudly applauded) is the most ambitious since the Communists took over the country's economy in the ~~early~~ early twenties.

Ulanova-

RECEIVES
A

Russian headlines ^{spotlight} ~~present~~ Galina Ulanova (of Bolshoi Ballet fame) who ^{RECEIVES CONGRATULATIONS FOR RECENTLY WINNING} ~~receives~~ the Lenin Prize for outstanding ballet achievement.

Now Ulanova gives a brilliant performance of ^{PART OF} the "Swan"- the immortal dance that gained her the award. (Sound to end)

H.M.S. PROTECTOR

2439

Portsmouth: Following a six-months spell of duty, (protecting British interests in the Antarctic) the armed netlayer, H.M.S. Protector - arrives home from the Falkland Islands Dependencies. Besides carrying out valuable surveys, the "Protector" brought home six V.I.Ps... (BRING UP)

They're King Penguins - and after suffering the indignity of the "customs" they were safely installed at the London Zoo. (BRING UP)

Mrs. America.

Florida: Though "A Woman's place is in the Home" now sounds a trifle old-fashioned - the "Mrs. America" contest salutes the woman who makes the home her whole life.. So glamour surrendered to successful home-making. But the winner, Mrs. Inwood Findlay, a mother of four, obviously has a recipe for beauty, too... (BRING UP)

Ladies Night.

London: "Ladies Night" Tournament - organised by the National Sporting Club, at the Cafe Royal. Sixty years ago, the famous Club put some noble art into boxing, and many a championship battle provided the sparkling aperitif to a member's dinner. In this bout, Paul King of Torquay won on points. (BRING UP).

Duke at Corsham.

Wiltshire Arriving by helicopter at the Petty Officers Training School at Corsham, the Duke of Edinburgh was warmly greeted by the Captain - Commander P.D. Hoare.

And the March-past of the pupils of H.M.S. Royal Arthur (as the school is called) took place in anything but Royal weather. The distinguished guest saw a tough demonstration of the latest methods in Commando-style, training. (BRING UP) And before leaving, he received an "Old Boy's" tie. For the Duke was a Lieutenant at the school eleven years ago (BRING UP).

Viet-Nam- President.

The U.S.A. A "Welcome to New York Parade" honours President Ngo Dinh Diem of Viet-Nam, who has preserved his country from the menace of Communism. The President is no stranger, for he spent three years in America in exile. To-day, he returns to a hero's welcome - hailed by the Mayor as one of the greatest figures in 20th century Asia. (BRING UP).