In America - the "Junior Miss" has her own ideas on fashion - so here was the chance to show Mother just what the model girl ought to wear. The tailored coats were styled in Britain - part of a continental collection.

For winter days - a warm lining. The fur? Well, a girl is never too young to appreciate mink!

Expensive ideas ~~are~~ that send the young suitor into a flat spin.

He thought a girl's best friend supplied the bulls-eyes!

In Canada - young thoughts turn eagerly towards world brotherhood as a contingent (numbering over one hundred) sets out for the Scout Jubilee Jamboree, in Britain.

A fond farewell - then - off on a great adventure to meet the youth of many lands. A world tribute to Lord Baden-Powell and fifty years of Scouting.

At the White House, President Eisenhower played host to another world gathering of youth. Scholars of over sixty countries (including Britain) - ~~representatives from Britain~~ who, during the past year, have been studying the <sup>UNITED STATES</sup> American way of life.

Over to Poland, where young pedal-pushers from the City of Pozna<sup>n</sup> are causing plenty of excitement in this Junior Grand Prix.

~~But for the moment~~ - The biting suspense is almost overwhelming! Will her champion pedal himself into the big time? Tour de France and all that!

Well, we'll never know. ~~But~~ the winner's ~~plans~~ too puffed to tell us his plans for the future.

Now big sister steals the spotlight. - The "Miss Universe" contest! Here's the second Miss America. They found out that the first Miss was a Missus - with two children...

There was much support for <sup>BRITAIN'S</sup> our own <sup>so far</sup> Sonia Hamilton. She was placed third. Britain's highest placing in this world contest.

The ~~contest~~ rules stipulated that all entrants should be ~~ix~~ between eighteen and twenty-eight.
