British Car at Utah-

America-- Looking like a giant beetle, a four-cylinder B.M.C. racing car ~~XXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXX~~ makes ^{A TEST SPEED RUN} a ~~run~~ on the Bonneville Salt Flats at Utah.

~~And the special~~ ^{The} timing device shows that on a second run, the British speedster set up new ~~international records~~ international records-

~~Co-drivers~~ ^{WERE} England's Tom Wisdom and New York's David Ash

Biggest Wind Tunnel-

ALSO In America, (where they believe in doing things the big way)- there's the world's biggest wind tunnel- with huge air intakes and powerful ~~turbines~~ turbines. ^{Through here} By man-made gales, roaring up to 3000 m.p.h., tests can be made of ~~jet engines~~ jet engines under actual flying ~~conditions~~ conditions.

Guided Missiles-

^{ON SHOW} Here at Bristol is the "Bloodhound"- the type of ground-to-air guided missile that will take over the future air defence of Britain.

~~Using a special controlling apparatus...~~ ^{The British tests}

~~another formidable~~ ^{Now - 002} ~~Britain's~~ first completely-controllable rocket-engine- the deHavilland "Spectre".

Fuelled by hydrogen peroxide, it can push Britain's newest planes towards a speed of 2000 m.p.h.

~~When engined by the "Spectre", the~~ ^{the new S.R. 53 fighter} ~~will be capable of~~ reaching twice the speed of sound!

~~From Australia~~ ^{From Australia} come first pictures of an anti-tank guided weapon still on the secret list. Even its name is yet unknown. The weapon is guided visually, and its accuracy is measured not in yards, or even feet-- but in inches!
