"Pamir" goes to bottom

For fifty years, the "Pamir" (last of the Windjammers) sailed through all weathers across the great seas. ~~in~~ waters and raging seas.

Now a ~~strong~~ hurricane in mid-Atlantic has claimed her - a victim that can never be replaced.

A tragic ^{radio} wireless message was the last the world heard of the four-masted bark ^{a cargo of grain} - carrying barley to Hamburg.

Out of a crew of eighty-six (including fifty-two sea cadets) only a few survived. Farewell Pamir - the last of a Stately Line.
