Army Trial

Hampshire: Since 1951, motor-cycling in the Army has received official encouragement. Now we know why - just look at this trials circuit, at Blackdown. Ninety competitors had to negotiate two courses like this - during the Army Motor-Cycling Championship Trial.

It's enough to make a despatch rider wish he'd been confined to barracks! Combined with the individual championship, there was a team event, with guest riders from the Swedish Army...so they laid on running water!

Despite the hazards, they all continued the uphill battle. No one gave the order to fall out!

And the new rough-riding Army Champion is Driver Raynor of the R.A.S.C.

San Marino

Italy: In its picturesque mountain setting, the tiny Republic of San Marino continues its "musical comedy" war..

Armed militia have patrolled the streets since the Christian Democrats ~~set up a provisional government following their recent election success~~ set up a Provisional Government - following the recent election, when the defeated Communists refused to leave office.

Acknowledging the <sup>new</sup> ~~Christian Democrat~~ administration, the Italian Government ordered a blockade on all roads entering the Republic

At this time ~~the two parties are~~ <sup>are</sup> striving to come to terms.

Meanwhile, work continues as usual - only the politicians have time to worry....
