When
Great Yarmouth: ~~While~~ Britain's herring fleets gathered for the East Anglian Fishing Season, Mr Heathcote-Amory, Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food, went aboard H.M.S. Squirrel to join a nation-wide tribute.~~ix~~

The 160 fishing craft were assembling for their first-ever review...to celebrate the revival of the 800 year-old East Anglian Herring Fair...

~~On board H.M.S. Squirrel~~ Admiral Sir Frederick Parham, ^{ABOARD H.M.S. WAVER} ~~Commander in-Chief,~~

The ~~Nore~~ acknowledged the gallant drifters and the men who sail them - in the dangerous task of helping to stock the Nation's larder.../

At nearby Lowestoft, Mr Heathcote-Amory opened an International Fisheries Exhibition; ^{this} ~~but~~ traces the partnership of fishing skill and modern science

Yet last season brought the worst catches for 200 years. May 1957 bring a bumper harvest for the brave men who toil in deep waters.../
