Here's a quick way to turn a few honest shillings into a few thousand honest ~~one~~ to goodness pounds - if you've got the ^{last of that} luck ~~of~~ Mr. Frank Offord a furniture dealer in Pimlico, London. ^{seems to have:}

He bought this safe for 30 bob and pretty soon found that He'd made a good investment. Made in 1880 it had'nt been opened for fifty years and when it was Mr. Offord could'nt believe his eyes for the contents may be worth as much as £100,000. Jewellery, Plate, ~~deeds to property~~ and old documents.....

A beautiful piece of gold plate with a wonderfully worked knife fork and spoon to match.....

And pick of the lot a tiara set with seventy diamonds that could be a cool £50,000 quids worth.....

But for Mr. Offord there's a problem. Does he own it? Well, if you can prove you're a ~~relative~~ ^{could be} relative of Madelaine Constance Hall of Brighton born in 1869 it ^{is} yours. But if ^{this} no claimant ^{and no mistake} turns up Frank Offord ^{MIGHT BE} a wealthy man.....
