

Festival of Wales Parade-

Oct 21 st 1958.

The Festival of Wales has presented Welsh life and culture to the world- and leading a spectacular parade ~~at~~ ^{at} Aberystwyth, was a tableau of the work of the Forestry Commission in the Principality.

Another tableau featured the County Coat of Arms- staged by the Llanbadarn Fawr Parish Council. Sir Clayton Russon- (President of the Festival Committee) took the salute, ~~by~~. And here's a charming picture of the traditional costume of Wales- sponsored by the Llanilar Women's Institute

Llanilar

The Young Farmer's Club boosted ~~their~~ their country's rich agricultural produce- while another highlight was a pageant of dress ~~through~~ through the ages, by the Aberystwyth Townswomen's Guild.

Finally- the Grand Parade of Youth- which included contingents who attended the parade at Cardiff to mark the opening of the Festival Season.) ~~And representatives of runners who carried the baton~~
~~containing the Queen's message through Cardiganshire.~~

These are the Lucky boys and girls who have played their useful part in, perhaps, the most historic year of the century for Wales.
