

43/55

INVISIBLE HOME GUARD.

Camouflage has left its mark on the Home Guard.

This is how they're working these days. Many units are adopting Guerilla tactics in their schools of intensified training. The art of concealment by merging with the landscape is illustrated in these pictures of Home Guardsmen exercising at an Army Fieldcraft Centre.

If brick buildings were the background instead of bushes, they'd turn into the local. It's really amazing how close you can be to a body of men without knowing it. The disappearing trick has been brought to a fine art,.

A last minute panoramic view of some of the men who stayed as trees for a while to face the camera. Incidentally, all dogs had been warned off the course.