CANADA.... ROYAL BAPTISM.

Crowds at St. Andrews Church, Ottawa, greet Princess Juliana of the Netherlands when she arrives with her infant daughter for the baby's baptism...

Mr. MacKenzie King, Canadian Prime Minister, is present with the baby's grandmother Queen Wilhelmina and the young sisters, Princesses Irene and Beatrix.

Now five months old, the first Dutch Princess born in exile in the Western Hemisphere hasn't any favourites, but Prince Bernhard does all right, he's had experience twice before.

The little Princess is baptised MARGRIET FRANCISCA. May peace and lasting happiness come to her and her family long before she is old enough to realise that she is far from her war-torn homeland.
