CHINA.....CHUNGKING COLLECTS.

These pictures were taken in Chungking where the good citizens were making a collection (Chinese fashion) for their own men in the fighting line. They afford us this opportunity to voice again our admiration for our Allies in the Far East. With all the pageantry so dear to the Chinese heart, the procession winds its way through the Streets of China's war-torn capital. It's not so very long ago that Chungking was daily shuddering under the impact of Japanese bombs. But the arrival of American Air Squadrons has changed all that, and the City is no longer lacking in defence.

It's a novel way of collecting gifts but it's none the less an effective way of recruiting help for the stout hearted armies of Chiang Kai Shek.
