

SMILES IN THE NEWS.....

Here it is again, New Jersey's "Happy National". Excitement runs high as safety pins snap shut. Father's been putting in some midnight training, but at the last minute there's trouble. He's slipped up, they're slipping down. More excitement, a false start. "Tarzan the Terrible" wants to walk away with the race... but for this event you have to crawl before you can walk.

O'Key boys - let's have a clean start. Hands, knees and he's off like a shot.

Come on Dutch, you can do it. First over the line under his own power. And not even puffing is "Jersey Johnny". Eleven months old winner of the folded-square marathon.

Over to Philadelphia for a display by Uncle Sam's "Invasion Tanks" - the Amphibious Jeeps. Take a look around boys - treat the place as if it were yours.

Hey! keep off the grass there! (Only have to tell them, and theyn throw the thing in the duck pond.)

"A jeep in the Deep" - and Vicky Verky.

Big attraction at the San Francisco Zoo is the sea lions. A bunch of energetic flippers which turn on a steeplechase round-about feeding time. Take you place on the rails and watch some "rill Sills".

Anyone in the audience get a Herring? Oh goody goody, it's grab.
