Relief, Restoration, Rectitude - - the three R's of a new education.

With a direct bearing on the world's food problem are these pictures from Egypt. They show how in twelve months bumper harvests of grain have been cultivated and are now making Egypt self supporting in flour. The crop being harvested is a variety of Millet. The time-honoured methods of threshing and winnowing are rapidly giving place to agricultural machines. No part of the plant is wasted. After extracting the grain, the husks and leaves are stored for cattle fodder, and the stems for fuel.

Where more modern implements are used the rate of harvesting is naturally increased. The Millet seeds later will be mixed with Wheat to produce a war-time bread of excellent quality.
