PILGRIMAGE TO ALAMKIN.

Between two and three hundred Australians who were recently repatriated from Germany travelled by Army lorries from Cairo and Alexandria to visit the Alamkin Cemetery, where many of their Gobbars are buried.

At the graveside of an Unknown Australian Soldier they hold their short service of remembrance.

Making their way through the sea of small white crosses they go in search of resting places of relatives and friends. Many bring cameras to record the inscriptions. These pictures will be carried reverently to loved ones at home. A hallowed corner of E Egypt which is forever Australia.
