IRKENGH FRESH WATER FROM THE SEA.

The spectre of death by thirst for sailors and airmen adrift at sea is dealt another blow by science. The de-salter method makes sea water drinkable. Entirely chemical in action, it provides a pig of fresh water with a briquet smaller than a bar of chocolate. It has already passed it's final tests and looks like supplying the answer to the greatest problem of the sea.

Water, water everywhere, and every drop drinkable.

ANTI-FASCIST DEMONSTRATION IN NAPLES.

Another political adventure in Italian History. Benedetto Croce is anti-King Victor, but pre-monarchist. Count Sforza sees an attempt to create an Italian Vichy, and is a strong advocate of democracy. Opinions are voiced at a meeting in Naples. The attitude of the democratic groups has been strongly influenced by what they regard as the dangerous revival of Fascism under the cloak of the monarchy. Count Sforza takes the line that there is no salvation for Italy under a dishonoured King.

He wins the applause of many, but dissentient voices are also heard as die-hards of Fascism and Monarchist Party supporters let fly. Politically Italy is well and truly in a mess. Fascism has bounced right back at her.
