Here we see a tender young plant growing up to be a tasty dish. While this process of growing up goes on the young plant demands constant attention, loving care must be lavished on it before it can grace the table. Just as we thought, a garden pest only awaits his opportunity to invade and countless hoards of fellow pests have the same thought in mind. A mighty airborne force, powerful land forces and a strong underground movement helps the attack. This is no time for hesitation, it's time for action and it must be the right kind. Tackle the pest, tackle him early. Dig for Victory leaflet No 16 tells you how.
