"THESE MEN MAKE NEWS"

Here is a single unit of United States Marine Cameramen operating in the Pacific War Zone. They are briefed before the fighting begins as carefully as any combat team....The story of these men is typical of Service and Newsreel cameramen in every theatre of war...

Yes, these men make news. Theirs is the art of recording the drama of war for all the allied world to see. As fighting violently breaks out, the cameramen are ready. Here in constant peril and with all kinds of hell let loose around them....they do their job.

War through the eyes of a cameraman is no lovely thing. Lives are frequently given when covering assignments. They risk much for a good story.
