THE GENERAL AND THE BOYS

During his first visit to the British Army since the invasion, General Eisenhower, Supreme Commander of the Allied Forces, inspects units of a Canadian Armoured Division....Crews and vehicles drawn up in order of night battle line the wooded road.

At a British General Hospital he swaps a yarn with wounded Tommies....The General's bedside manner seems to be as good as his other and better-known activities....

.... and he's equally at home with the girls too....

Three Nursing Sisters collect a signature that many an ardent autograph-hunter would covet.
