"BROWNS" DAY AT VILLA PARK

"You must say 'yes' to Mr. Brown" in this International match at Villa Park in which England, white shirts, blue pants, beat Scotland three to two. Albert Brown, of Charlton, opened the score for England, after 23 minutes, and Robert Brown, the Scottish goalie, gave a magnificent display. Level at half time, England's second goal came sliding in early in the second half.

The Scottish defence held the brilliant English forward line until well into the second half.

Best goal of the match was Scotland's second-half equaliser, a picture-goal by Dodds.

With 15 minutes to go Mortensen scored the winning goal for England. From then on 21-year old Naval Petty Officer Bob Brown saved Scotland from a heavier beating. He gave the 66,000 crowd all the thrills they wanted.

Scotland's Captain, Matt Busby, rolls in pain on the ground, as the game surges round him - he was later carried off.

Here are Brown's magnificent saves.

And again.

Yes, Mr. Brown and more to come.

England won a tremendously keen and hard-fought match. The score was three two. But for the courage and skill of Bob Brown the margin might have been much bigger.
