

PLEASE TO REMEMBER

Please to remember, the Fifth of November; the small boys "Day of the Year" comes back with a flash and a bang. After keeping their hands in with 6 years making Vercy Lights, aircraft flares, and sundry other war time devices, Brock's workpeople revert to Thunder Flashes, Little Demons, Catherine Wheels and Roman Candles. The old traditional whizzers and bangers will be back, but ambitious youngsters ordering V.2's or atom bombs will be disappointed. One manufacturer said, "We feared that after all the raids, people would never want to hear another explosion. But the reverse seems to be the case. They like 'em." Stocks accumulated during the war went off in Thanksgiving Weeks and V.E and V.J. celebrations. Now it's first come first served. Guy Fawkes himself didn't wait with any greater concentration than these kiddies getting ready for their first peace-time November the Fifth.

The lady with experience in queuing gets away to a good start; Spare a copper for the guy who forget to save up.

Love at first sight and no waiting for an introduction. On the pictures the lady drops her handkerchief, but the kids today don't hold with that old fashioned stuff.

A deerstep, a firework and you; what a title for a song.

Well, well, so it was only the fireworks he wanted. A gold digger in reverse.
