FROM THE PATHE NEWS DESK

Mr. and Mrs Churchill embark at Southampton on the Queen Elizabeth for the first stage of their journey to the States. Advised by his Doctor to rest, the old warrior is booked for the sunshine of Florida.

Disclosing that his plans so far include making only one speech, Mr. Churchill said, "I think I have earned a holiday." We wish him a good and happy one.

Flying her paying off pennant, the battleship Howe draws in to Portsmouth. She has a Portsmouth crew and crowds waited to greet her at the end of this 19 month spell of foreign service which took her 90 thousand miles.

With King George the Fifth, Duke of York and Anson, Howe is one of Britain's latest type of battleships. First of her class to berth at Portsmouth, she gets a royal welcome.

Girls eager for fame in films, or the stage or in the fashion world, parade at a London mannequin school.

Number of girls up before the judges exceeded 500 - quite a sizeable figure.

M-m-m.

Marks are given for deportment, general appearance and good figures - and, at a time like this, who wouldn't be good at figures. The judges took everything very calmly. Very calmly now - icy calm, chaps icy calm.
