

TALL STORY

Back in civvy street after 12 weeks as the Army's biggest headache, is Ted Evans, 21 years old and still with his head in the clouds. Topping 7 feet six in his socks he's waiting to hear what the Food Ministry say to his application for rations for six. And there's a little matter of nine foot bed he wants a permit for. At his level even the communcations system gets complicated.

Seven and a half feet and still growing, Ted Evans is choosing his future. He's being tested to see what can be made of him as a wrestler or boxer. With plenty of room for fattening up, he almost wrecks the scale at 23 stone.

Young Ted's a kitten while he's playful, but get him mad and he'll lift the roof.
