

DIRT TRACK ON ICE

Sweden's top-line speed arena roars back into the news as ac-coter-cyclists stage a comeback after a seven year break.

Frozen Lake Flaten gives a glass-like surface for thrill merchants, scattering ice particles instead of cinders.

Well-furred spectators get more than their money's worth.

Braving the cold, 8,500 folk packed the hillsides, and when the big 500 c.c. class bikes hit the ice, up went the temperatures.

Laurel-winner of the motorbike madmen is Bertil Carlsson -

Sweden's dirt-track King of the Ice.
