DDT SPRAYING FOR U.S. TOWN

lining up for a new assignment, an anti-germ team goes to work with DDT sprays on America's Muscogee County. First objective of the health drive is Columbus, Georgia, where the clean-up process begins. Sidelight on America's seamy side, (where everything is not flowing with milk and honey) is the dust-up of garbage cans, and the rubbish and junk lying around in this largely negro area.

Dairies figure high in the targets for the miracle insecticide. 21 lorry-loads of DDT are dusted around, and cattle get special attention.

Nothing in all Muscogee County escapes the DDT - not even the camera.
