SPRING CLEANING THE EIFFEL TOWER

World symbol of Springtime in Paris, the Eiffel Tower is in the news again. Part of the city's big clean up the Tower is due for its first painting since 1939 a coat of orange says one report. It's half a day's work to get to the top; lift power is still on the ration. Workmen are replacing the old 25 foot, copper lightning rods with an up-to-the-minute modern variety.

The acrobatic steeplejacks get a bonus - the higher they get the better it looks, down below where it's Paris in the Spring.
