

UNITY AT LAST

At last, after 6 months waiting, London Zoo's newest and rarest possession lands at Peole after an air trip from Calcutta. Her name is Lien Ho - Unity - and she's an eighteen month old giant panda from the mountains of Thibet brought here by Professor Ma Teh. At Regent's Park Zoo her arrival is a State occasion. She's got her name on the door already and like all women she takes a good look around to make sure everything's in apple-pie order.

An audience of 300, mainly children, welcomed Miss Lien Ho to Britain. Valued at £20,000 China exchanged her for two scholarships at an English University. Successor to the famous King, she goes straight to the top of the Zoo's popularity pull. Eighty pounds of super-teddy bear, she looks at a new world through two lovely ~~black~~ black eyes.
