

2-271101

CROWDS AT WEDDING

The Duchess of Kent's capricious hat led the many guests attracting crowds to Westminster Abbey. Magnificent is the wedding of Lady Elizabeth Mountague-Douglas-Scott to the Duke of Northumberland. The presence of the Royal Family made this a more than noteworthy occasion.

The Police cordon was having a rough time when the bride arrived. The magnificence of her gown and veil was breath-taking for a moment or two and then the thousands of watchers did an Aladdin break through.

The bride is the daughter of the Duchess of Buccleugh and at least one dignitary emphasized the Scottish angle.

A traditional finale to the day's event came from the villagers of Albany, the Duke's Surrey home. Crowds drag in the bridal car as the first part of a universal wish for health and happiness.