INDIA DECIDES.

Sir Stafford Cripps and Lord Pethick Lawrence are back to report on their Mission to India. Their colleague Navy Chief Alexander is also back. First to greet him was his niece, Jennifer, and there was a welcome too from Mrs. Alexander and their daughter.

On the airfield, the First Lord gives Pathe this exclusive "report on India".

Meanwhile, iron-willed Muslim League Mohammed Ali Jinnah debates India's future with frail, apparently age-less Mahatma Gandhi. The fate of 400 million Indians rests on these men's shoulders. Here is silver tongued Pandit Nehru, voice of the Congress Party.

Patriarchal Master Tara Singh represents the Sikhs and Maulana Azad is President of Congress. Mystery figure is firebrand orator Abdul Gaffar Khan, the frontier Gandhi, spokesman of the North West. Disagreeing only on the British plan for an interim Government, Gandhi still decides India's future.
