

SEA SPORT

In Holland - the Holland in Michigan - water skiing takes on the aspect of a major competitive sport. Water sports experts from all over America gather for this Fourth National Water-ski Tournament. They'll be judged on form - and their ability to keep their feet on eight inch wide skis at speeds up to 40 miles an hour.

You can't learn this in two easy lessons. On a hot summer's day, this is the hard way to keep cool.

Whether it's down the side of a mountain or from the back of a speeding boat, skiing means spills. Except sometimes....Rubber rescue boats of the type carried by aircraft are tried out in the surf at Bondi, Sydney.

Lots of boats of this type are being sold for holiday-makers in this country. There's quite a knack to the way it's done - one good thing about it is, the back-seat driver hasn't got a chance.
