

ANNUAL GRASMERE SPORTS.

Rolling Westmoreland fells frame the first Grasmere Sports since 1939, with the famous Senior Guides Race providing the day's main thrill. Twenty of the North's toughest dalesmen tussle in this climb over the slopes of nine hundred foot Butters Crag. Its one of the hardest endurance tests any sport man show.

A final dash down the sheer mountainside brings the coveted title to 27 year old ex-serviceman Peter Temple, farm labourer from Cumberland.

Dogs trained to top form streak out on the scent of an aniseed drag in the ten mile hound trail. The toughest obstacle doesn't balk them.

The last dash home to waiting owners brings to the hungry winners a heavy date with a big bone.

In Westmoreland even the Sports' light relief has no room for weaklings. It may look a simple pillow fight to you, but there's more in those bags than feathers.
