PEOPLE IN CAMERA

Loch Lomond stages Scotland's event of the week where plans for the Loch Ely Hydro-electric scheme promise power for the Highlands and work for 1500 men. Among the big-roadsmen, meet Fuel Minister Mr. Shinwell and Mrs Shinwell. Too-long neglected, Scottish industry looks to Minister Shinwell and Secretary for Scotland, Joe Westwood and there's approval too from Mrs. Shinwell and Mrs. Westwood. Loch Ely is Scotland's Boulder Dam.

And now, Pathe's John Parsons introduces to you American fight challenger, Gus Lomovich.

SOUND

And here's another warrior, Tin-suit Tony from Italy where Pathe's cameraman reports on the famous Corsa del Palio at Siena. Here's people in camera for you, with America's General Mark Clark in a balcony seat. With all the banners possible ones - it's a flag-waver's holiday.

In Siena, too, there's the world's oddest horse race, with jockeys hitting the floor and streets providing the track.

In Italy, the holidays certainly go over with a bang.
