PATHE'S FRONT PAGE

Meeting of Front page men, renewing in America, friendships made in Europe. With Monty are General Eisenhower and General Omar Bradley. Remember him? Ralph Ingersoll tried to kid us Bradley and Monty never agreed. And after that, Washington and a meeting with President Truman at the White House. Good start to Monty's fact finding tour of the world's armies.

SOUND

Coventry: where Pathe Cameras meet up with Mayor (Councillor Gordon) and city dignitaries. Event is the annual gymkhana, and stars of the show were the Royal Corps of Signals motor-cycle aces.

Proceeds went to the Army Benevolent Fund. Only thing that wasn't benevolent was the weather even that didn't stop the stunt men.

A day for Coventry, with the pay-off twelve men on one bike.

At Wallsend, in Northumberland, parishioners of the Church of St. Peter take part in a historic pilgrim page. Accompanied by the Bishop of the Diocese they go to the ruined church of the Holy Cross. Built by Monks from Jarrow, after the Norman Conquest, 800 years ago, the ancient church was the cradle of Christianity in Northumberland.

An open-air service conducted by the Bishop, keeps alive the memory of the old church. An annual ceremony rooted deep in Britain's past.

Moscow, 1946. The Soviet capital mourns the passing of its President. Except for Stalin, the last of the old generation of Bolsheviks, Mikhail Ivanovich Kalinin lies in State. Beside his body, Soviet men and women pay their solemn tribute.

Standing guard are the great names of modern Russia - listen to them:

SOUND

From Yugoslavia, Marshal Tito, completing the list of the men who plan and direct Russian world policy. Rarely photographed, or seen together in public, they meet to do honour to an old companion of Lenin.

And in the Red Square, within sight of Lenin's tomb, guns and planes render a last salute.

Mareeba, Australia and a visit from Britain's Lord Nuffield to the years' surf-riding jamboree. Some folk have vigorous ideas about holiday sport
