PEOPLE IN CAMERA

First to meet the camera among this week's personalities is King Feisal of Iraq. Still boy enough to get a kick out of engines, we found him looking around Londen's star collection of ancient cars. Not an easy choice, but the boy-king finally fixed on an old-timer of 1898. Driving with him is Mr. Allday, President of the Veteran Car Club.

The King and the kids. Young outriders follow on bikes. That's one novelty to write back to Iraq about.

Now come in to a Party on our invitation card. Meet 73 year-old six-foot Sultan Ibrahim of Jahore and his blonde Rumanian wife. 53 years a ruler, this is the Sultan's birthday party.

Lady Willington - ex-Vicerine of India was there - and among the guests were prominent personalities from Britain's Colonial Office and from Malaya.

After four years under Japanese orders, the Sultan of Jahore loosens up.

From Rome we report the audience given by His Holiness the Pope to four thousands delegates from the Italian Boy Scout Movement. Suppressed by Mussolini's Fascist Party, Scouting returns to take its place in the life of Italy's young people.

With the Pope's blessing, these chosen representatives from every part of Italy go back to the task of rebuilding their Movement.
