CHE MUNTE MERS

2-20110

2-202101

101405 6

16/85

Met in London, 72 year ald best-selling author Semerset Maughan. A short visit before leaving for France, he used it to give away this 20-guineas worth of good advice.

SOUDD

From our Palestine reporter, a happier note, Leaving the barbed wire behind, these Jewish immigrants move out to freeden. Part of a total of 1250, they have been given permission to remain in Falestine. For them, the stormy read to the Premised Land has ended happily.

Further North, in the Gama district, British High Commissioner Sir Alen Cummingham visits under the palms. His best an Arab Sheik. Over in America, President Trumen has handed out plenty of free advice on how Palestine should be run. But on the spot, hard worked British, say less and do more. Next visit was a Jewish village. And (anti-British critics please note) Sir Alem gets around without an armed guard.

Now, the Vashington meeting between nuch-criticised Harry Trumm and back-from-Paris peacemaker, Jimmy Myrnes. To Russia, a warning word:

SIPIE PIL