

CABINET GOES TO A PARTY

Off duty celebrations in Downing Street. The occasion - Mr. and Mrs. Attlee's silver wedding. Pathe cameramen got an invitation and brought back these informal pictures of Britain's Cabinet at a party. With the Prime Minister, Lord President, Herbert Morrison.

Away from coupon worries, Board of Trade's, Stafford Cripps.

Mr. Morrison was the host.

Also there, was Education Minister, Ellen Wilkinson.

In UNO mood, Britain's top diplomat, Foreign Secretary, Ernest Bevin.

Centred here is Health and Housing chief, Aneurin Bevan. And the man with a song in his heart, Chancellor Dalton. Congratulations over, a toast follows. And the Cabinet join in singing "For they are Jelly Good Fellows."

Chief present to Mr. and Mrs. Attlee was a silver salver - signed by every minister and inscribed "From some of their Friends." We join in good wishes to the Prime Minister and Mrs. Attlee.
