In London for the Palestine Conference is Jamal Husseini, Vice President of the Arab Higher Executive.

SPEECH

From the week's personalities, here, in Paris, is M. Vincent Auriol the new French President. With the 62 year-old Socialist leader in the gardens of the Elysee are his wife, son and daughter-in-law and his grandchildren. During the Vichy interlude, M. Auriol served with the Fighting French. First President of the Fourth Republic his term of office is for seven years.

From our Capetown reporter these pictures of a nasty way of earning a living. Catchers in chief are Jack and John Jones helped by native boys. Here is the prize they're digging for - a seven foot cobra packing enough poison to kill you in two minutes. A few seconds and they all land up in the same place.

Here are a few more pleasant looking characters all lined up for inspection.

There's quite a market for snakes as Sunday dinners in South Africa. Catcher Jones prepares the snakes by extracting the fatal venom. Current price for snake meat is 1/6 per pound.

Bing Crosby gets another award. An event that happens often and Bing Crosby does not forget his friend Bob Hope. It appears that Bob could take a lesson from this.
