

THE KENTUCKY DERBY

It's Derby Day in America. At Louisville, Kentucky, 115,000 fans are there as the 13 horses leave the starting gate for the 73rd Kentucky Derby. The crowd have backed their choices with a record one and a quarter million dollars. With weather cloudy and the track slow, the three year olds begin their mile and a quarter grind.

And here they are coming round the bend. "Jet Pilot" No. 11, is in the lead, with twenty two year old jockey Oliver Guerin up. The chestnut colt has been leading all the way and it shows no signs of tiring. The last few furlongs and "Jet Pilot" still in the lead. Passing the post it's "Jet Pilot" first followed by "Faultless" and the favourite "Phalanx." And to "Jet Pilot" goes the 92,000 dollar purse.
