TOWN CRIERS' CONTEST IN BODMIN

To Bodmin in Cornwall came 15 town criers from Wales and the West country. In St. Nicolas Meadow, they yell it out for the Town Criers Championship.

That was the voice of Fred Galley of Lyme Regis. Next is David Morris of Haverfordwest in Wales - appointed in 1949.

Bridport's entrant Fred Walsh shouted the loudest. He got a News of the World challenge cup. Fred Walsh won - but as we drove away we could still hear this:
