THEY'RE HERE FROM AMERICA ON THE "QUEEN MARY"

To Southampton from New York comes the 80,000 ton liner "Queen Mary." Luxuriously refitted after wartime troop-carrying, the Mary is back - each transatlantic trip earning dollars for Britain. This voyage, our reporter at the quayside, met a United States Congress Committee, led by Christian Herter of Massachusetts. This 19-man-party is over here to make out a list of Europe's economic needs.

Also aboard were the wives of the Inkspets - Mrs. Kenny, Billie Bowen and feather-hatted Billie Kenny. And when it was all over, we spotted one more celebrity - Tough Guy Wallace Berry passing through the customs. Once an elephant trainer, Berry in his 60's is still a Hollywood top-liner.

On his second visit to this country, the screen bad-man went sky on us. Maybe the customs put him off - or perhaps it was his tie.
