

MILLINERS SCORE WITH CONVERTIBLE HATS

A New York hat designer displays a unique new bonnet. Yes, these are all one hat. Starting with a small round piece of soft felt and a yard of wool jersey, you just fold the material into the shape that suits your ensemble or mood. Like this.

From a high cocktail hat to a winged turban is just a couple of twists of the wrist.

Or perhaps you prefer more sophistication. Each change is just a matter of folding. There's no sewing or pinning. Now, suppose you were sporting this Chinese-style hat and ran into a friend wearing the same version. Why, you simply retire a moment, and emerge with a new hat. You can keep it up almost endlessly. This one hat can be worn more than fifty ways.
